Sorry, but it's that time of year again.

Desperate candidates in a desperate attempt to get your vote, often resort to hard hitting, often untrue, "hit pieces" in the final days of the campaign.

They're mailed late, right before election day, hoping that the opponent won't have time to respond to what are always distortions and often totally untrue statements.

Now, having had the honor to serve you and work with many of you over the years, I'm sure that we're not going to always agree on every issue and every vote.

What I hope we do agree on is that elected officials and voters need to stay in contact. We need to talk! So, if you have questions on where I stand or how I voted, please contact me. I've always enjoyed the conversations I've had with my constituents over the years and I consider it a critical part of my job.

And as for those "hit pieces" that may arrive?

Remember this - if it sound too bad to be true - it probably isn't!

If you want to talk about it e-mail me. thomasjcampbell@qwestoffice.net

I'd be happy to set the record straight.
